Workshop on PSYCHOACTIVE SUBSTANCE USE AND SUICIDE: PREVENTION AND ROLE OF THE NURSE

" Substance use and depressive disorders often co-exist, with associated risk for suicide. Substance use is a modifiable risk factor for suicide, particularly among key populations (such as youth). Nurses work with individuals in various settings 24 hours a day. They are therefore important members of the health team who are in a prime position to recognize signs of depression and risk for suicide, and provide necessary interventions in a timely manner."

Objective

To enable nurses to intervene effectively with individuals using psychoactive substances with associated depression and suicidal risk, with a focus on key populations

Number of seats is limited to 40
Registration on first come first serve basis

Who can participate?

Nurses and nursing students, including those currently working in addiction treatment facilities and community settings
