Invites Applications for
3 months Certificate Course in

'Social Work Practice in Psychiatric Disability Management'
(January 2023 – March 2023)

About the Course:

The tenets of the new global definition of Social Work include promoting (1) social change and development, (2) social empowerment and liberation and engaging (4) people and structures to address life changes and wellbeing – which are also aspects of rehabilitation. Social Workers are thus important professionals in process of rehabilitation for persons with psychiatric disability. Social work practice in Psychiatric Disability involves intensive case work and community organization including liaison and networking at grassroot level. In the Government and NGO sector in the community, social workers play an important role in providing and facilitating social work and welfare services to the disabled. In this context, this three month Certificate Course in 'Social Work Practice in Psychiatric Disability Management' for post Masters in Social Work students, is proposed to address the training needs in the area of Psychiatric social work in Psychiatric Rehabilitation. This programme is aimed to provide practical and theoretical exposure to build capacity in social work practice for the management of psychiatric disability.
